SWISS MILKS. SWEETENED AND UNSWEETENED.

All Full Cream, Guaranteed Absolutely Pure. Reprint from 'The Lancet,' September 14th, 19 1 :-We have previously reported upon a sample of condensed milk propared by the Swiss Milk Society which, unlike the present sample, contained no added sugar. There is no doubt that the addition of sugar to condensed milk is in most cases excessive. On the contrary, when this preparation is diluted to a desirable strength by adding, for example, three parts of water to one part of milk there is hardly any sweet taste of added augar perceptible. The preparation is quite fluid, and does not crystallise. The milk is sterile, and contains no chemical preservatives. The flavor is good, and typical of rich

This is the finest and purest milk to be had, and is most suitable for invalids and children; it is without that objectionable taste that most condensed milks have.

INSURING A PRIZE DOG.

The following report of a suit tried before, Mr Justice Kennedy (without a jury) is taken from a Home paper :...

Jacob v. Gaviller,-This was an action brought by Mr Jacob, an official in the Public Works Department at Lahore, to recover £150 for damages to a valuable fox-terrier under a policy of marine insurance. Mr Scrutton, K.C., and Mr Schiller oppoured for the Plaintiff, and Mr Hamilton, K.C., and said the action raised a novel and interesting point as to a policy of marine insurance on a prize fox-terrier dog; which was insured for a voyage from Liverpool to Bombay and Lahore by the ship Chan Chisholm. The dog was insured against all risks, and the Plain-2129 tiff's case was that on the voyage it suffered damage to one of its hind legs, which rendered it impossible for it to be shown as a prize dog, and enormously reduced its value. The Defendant's case was that there was a clause in the policy that 'walking ashore' was to be deemed a safe arrival, and that, though it was a fact that the unfortunate dog only managed to hop along, on three degs, still, for the purposes of the policy, that was a safe arrival, and they were not liable for damage to the fourth leg-713 (laughter) - Plaintiff contended that that clause meant that the dog should walk in the ordinary way, and not benierely able to hop (laughter). Even how the dog could only walk on three The dog was a wire haired born in October, 1899, and from that date until October, 1906, he had won no less than 85 brizes, including 72 first or special prizes at English dog shows. Just las-715 fore the animal was shipped, which was on the 27th October, 1900, it took three first and four special prizes at shows The Plaintiff was a gentleman who imported dogs for show purposes NO. 1 QUEEN'S GARDENS. Princes and others. On October 23, 1900, a friend of Plaintiff's hought the 1900, a friend of Plaintiff's bought the 308 dog at Accrington, and took it to Spratt's Depository at Liverpool, had it shipped to the Plaintiff, and effected a policy with an underwriter at Lloyd's for £150. The insurance was against all risks. The Clan Chisholm arrived at Bombay on November 24, and it was believed that the dog obtained its injury as the vessel egossed the Day of

Mr Scrutton, in opening the case,

Mr Mckinnon for the Defendant,

Biscay in bad weather, Mr William John Rees, mannager of Spratt's Patents Depository, at Liverpool, proved that the dog was perfectly sound when shipped. Mr Dallinger said he bought the dog for $55, but issured it for £150, as Mr Lionel Jacob, the Plaintill, gave evidence, and said the injury to the dog had puzzled all the veterinary surgeons in India.-In cross-examination, Witnow said he had since sold the dog, with a batch of four others, for the sum of Mr Hamilton, for the defence, pointed out that there was no evidence as to boy the deg get injured, and he submit-NIO. 6 ORMSBY TIGRRACE, ted that any injury caused by the dog, itself was not covered by the insurance. No loss within the policy had been proyed, and in that state of facts the clause about 'walking ashore' was a complete Mr Scrutton, interposing, submitted the dog was insured against all risks whatever. Under the mortality clause, he must be paid even if the dog were killed in a fight or if the captain wrong its neck beenuse he did not like its backing. For a higher premium the clause had been extended from mortality to all risks._ Mr Hamilton said the object of the clause was to prevent expensive and difficult inquiries precisely of the charactor of this case by contemplating two arbitrary tests; the Defendant paid for all dead dogs, and, on the other hand, if the dog could get ashore, the Defendant did not pay at all.

The Trade of Japan.

In its annual report, the Yokohama Foreign Chamber of Commerce says :-- The foreign trade of Japan during the year 1901 showed a close approximation to a balance To-night 'The Belle of New York' is to be of Imports and Experts, a decrease in the repeated. former and an increase in the latter both contributing to this result, Exports showing 54 millions over those of 1900 and Imports about 314 millions under those of the previous year. The principal factor in the increased "figures of the Export trade was Raw Silk, of which 41,000 piculs more were shipped in 1901 than during the previous year, the value of which was 30 million yen, the total value of the Raw Silk shipped during 1901 being over 741 million yen The other articles which have assisted t raise the total of Exports have been Sill-Piece-goods, Silk Waste, Copper, Coal Rice, and Yarns, the latter article having been somewhat in better demand in the Chinese markets. A very successful concert was given in the Kowloon Institute last night by the Ethiopian Minearel Troupe. He was taken to the Chiho Saibansho, and placed under examination, when he stated that he would return to Yokohana if his presence there was required. On this understanding Mr Herb was released, having stated that he would return to Yokohama by the Hakuai-mara, leaving to-day. In justice to Mr Herb it should be stated that he held a permit from the Yokohama Chiho Saibansho to proced to France, and had therefore quite openly taken a ticket against hiuris of a criminal nature, but no particulars are to hand.

Probably these two 'defaulters' were chosen because it was certain that money would be found on the premises, and the task of distraint would thus be made easy. Those appear to have been the only two distraints made yesterday, an perhaps the authorities will now wait and see the offect upon other 'defaulters' this 'vigorous' action, which will delight the hearts of the 'foreign advisers.' seizore of moncy is of course a much more imple thing than the seizure of goods, and it rests with 'defaulters' to see that money not available when bailiffs visit their premises because of the additional publicity and the strengthening of the protest to be obtained from sales of seized goods. It will ne seen that a receipt was given for the cash seized in payment of the House-tax, so that the distraint compels most effectual notice being taken of the protest against payment. The Yorodau Chohe, by the way, strongly condemus the authorities for their obstinacy in refusing to accept a protest when some foreigners in Yokohana offered paymen on these conditions. RECREATION NOTES.

The international Rugby football matches this season have produced some startling surprises. It is not surprising that Wales, who lost only one match last year, should come out first this year; but, on the whole England had hard lines in not winning with a carofully selected and powerful team, while Scotland, starting favourite, has gone down with a terrible bump from top to bottom of the rival countries. This had at her command practically the same team of young players who romped off with 46 points last year against their opponents! 16. Wales is always a powerful Rugby country, and some of her clubs are almost invincible. Ireland has played in remarkably good form this year, and, but for the fact that Rughy form all round seems to have been above the average this season, the wearers of the Shaureck might have had all the honours.

While on the Rugby game, I may refer to the important question of off-side play by half-backs. This evil is prominent in flougkong as it is at Home, and our local when following a closely-contested game. means of the propagation of that dread disgrows faster and more passing work takes case that in one case out of three sweeps place, the task of the referee in keeping his the victim of. But such appeals are effectual only where men are already disposed to honest practices, and have no effect upon those who want to win-honestly if they can, but anyway to win. OTHER ENEMIES.

Rats, of course, have other enemies They are hated by men, and are tormente and hunted as are few created animals. The world thinks of the rat as of the panper boy in 'Oliver Twist,' 'lit him hard, he rin't got no friends. He dwells to the unidet of alarms. Every man's hand, every cut's paw, every bird's beak, is against him. Still he does not appear to worry. He has the formidable tofth and feelings proper t his lot, even though a whole city full are laying paison for him, In danger he is wol and coming. He will avoid danger by strategy, but if the worst comes to the worst will fight with admirable courage. The bite of any rat is severe, while that of a sewer rat is highly dangerous. The rat has to face cunningly devised traps, skilfully concealed poison, the oaslaughts o dogs, cats, ferrets, and other animals, and these circumstances keep his number down. In view of the rapid increase of his species this is well. Buckland in his Cariosities of Natural History states that a little dog under 6th, weight had destroyed 2525 rats, which had they been permitted to live would at the end of three years have produced 1,633 190,200 rats. Of course this was the possible increase, but the checks of nature keep the rat from inheriting the fitwo good CHINESE TRACERS. RATE AS PETS.

Rats have often been made pets. Wynter in his 'Curiosities of Civilisation, says of the rat : "If he can be savage when self-protection requires, he also has his ence in man almost as strong as that exhibited by the dog or cat. An old blind rat, on who e head the snows of many winters had gathered, was in the habit of sitting beside our own kitchen fire with all the comfortable book of his enemy, the cat, and such a favourite had be become with the servants that he was never allowed to be disturbed. He, unhappily, fell a victim to the sudden spring of a strange cat. A close observation of these animals entirely conquers the antipathy which is entertained towards them. Their sharp and handsome heads, their bright oyes, their intelligent look, their sleek skins, are the very reverse of repulsive ; and there is positive attraction in the beautiful manner in which they sit licking their paws and washing their faces, lan occupation in which they pass a consi-

Hongkong Tides.

The Tide Table given below has becompiled by the Nautical Almanae Office in London from the result of the analys of observations taken by means of an ar tomatic tide-recording machine in the We ter Police Basin at Term Sha Tsui durin the years 1867-8-0. The zero of the table is Low Water Or dinary Spring Tides, which has been foun to be 2 feet below mean sea level. To obtain the depth of water on the tid gauge at the Victoria Naval Yard add 5 f 7 in., and on the gauge at Lamont Dock Aberdeen, add 12 it. 9 in the the heigh riven in the Jadie.
